CONTENTS

Foreword by Eric Holt-Giménez ....................... ix
Introduction ......................................... 1
Map of Honduras .................................... 13

PART 1: From Bananas to Palm Oil ................ 14
1. The Aguán Valley: Land for the People .......... 16
2. The Decline of Agriculture and the Rise of the Maquila 22
3. Grabbing Land and Power: The New Agro-Oligarchs ... 28
4. Militarization and the War on Drugs:
   Security for Whom? ................................ 37
5. The War on Peasants ............................ 42

PART 2. Palm Oil and the Corporate Food Regime . 46
6. The Making of a “Food-Like Substance” .......... 48
7. Subsidizing Corporate Expansion .................. 54
8. Free Trade and Fast Food .......................... 58
9. Greening the Regime, Part 1: Fueling the “Green”
   Economy .......................................... 64
10. Greening the Regime, Part 2: Ecotourism or
    Eco-colonialism? .................................. 74

PART 3. The New Aguán Movements: Land, Resistance and Food Sovereignty .............................. 86
11. The New Cycle of Struggle: A Sketch of Two Aguán
    Movements ....................................... 90
12. Resisting Fragmentation, Constructing Unity ...... 100
13. Peasant-Controlled Palm Oil: The Case of Salamá .... 106
14. From Palm Oil to Food Sovereignty ............... 113
15. Conclusion .................................... 121
Appendix: Declaration of the International Human Rights Observatory of Aguán .......................................................... 129

Stay Informed & Get Involved ........................................... 133

Acronyms ........................................................................... 135

Notes .................................................................................. 137

References ......................................................................... 149

Index ................................................................................ 167

Box 1. Women Maquila Workers Resist ................................. 25
Box 2. Hurricane Mitch: Disaster Capitalism and Grassroots Alternatives ................................................................. 34
Box 3. The Oleochemicals Industry .......................................... 50
Box 4. USAID’s “Feed the Future” Initiative ............................ 61
Box 5. The Roundtable on Sustainable Palm Oil
(by Annie Shattuck) ............................................................. 71
Box 6. Honduras’ Charter City: An Assault on Sovereignty ...... 81
Box 7. History of Land Deals at Former CREM Site ............... 93
Box 8. The FNRP: Roots and Evolution of a Social Movement
(by Tyler Shipley) ............................................................... 97
Box 9. Plantation Workers Speak Out ................................. 108
Box 10. North-South Solidarity and Activist Research ............ 123

Chart 1. Palm Oil Imports .................................................... 51
Chart 2. Installed Capacity to Produce Biodiesel .................. 66