The Institute for Food and Development Policy (Food First) accepts gifts of appreciated stock to support our work. You may be able to avoid capital gains tax on your donation, while capturing the full market value of your stock as a charitable tax deduction.

In accordance with IRS regulations, you will receive an acknowledgement for tax purposes listing the number of shares donated and the value of the stock as of the date the shares are received in our account. Stock donations may offer significant tax benefits to the donor. We recommend that you consult a tax professional for specific advice about your situation.

All donated stock is sold for us by our Financial Advisor at Empowered Investments.

At the time you make the donation, it is important that you inform the Institute for Food and Development Policy of the following information, so that we can verify receipt and provide you with proof of your donation for tax purposes:

- Stock symbol and name of the company
- Number of shares
- Date of transfer
